Speak out 3RD EDITION

B2+
UNIT 7 TEST | Version B

Part A • Grammar, Vocabulary and How to …

GRAMMAR

1 Choose the correct words to complete the sentences.

1 They're planning to take at the end of the month a short break / a short break at the end of the month.
2 He had been acting in an unusual / unusually way all morning.
3 We should quietly speak / speak quietly so we don't wake up the children.
4 I tend to follow the same routine every morning / every morning the same routine.
5 In an unsurprising way / Unsurprisingly, the weather has turned out badly again.
6 You're required usually / usually required to show your passport when entering the country.
7 He won't be able to sleep tonight because he's been sleeping all morning / all morning been sleeping.
8 Every once in a while, we / We, every once in a while, meet for a coffee and a chat.
9 The neighbours incredibly were angry / were incredibly angry about the party we had last night.
10 To my frustration, they / They to my frustration, wouldn't let me park my car in the staff car park.

/10

2 Put the words in brackets in the correct order to complete the sentences.

1 _____ (they / since / never / have / been) here before, they might get lost.
2 She can't stand waiting for people. _____ (of / because / that), it's important that we're not late.
3 _____ (result / strike / of / as / the / a), all buses and trains are cancelled today.
4 _____ (the / encouraged / response / by) of the audience, the band came back on stage.
5 _____ (result / of / a / working / as) outdoors all summer, she got a great suntan.
6 _____ (by / traffic / the / frustrated), we checked the map for an alternative route.
7 _____ (you / have / might / as / heard), Mr Bryant is leaving the company at the end of the month.
8 _____ (you / as / seeing / aren't) doing anything, you could tidy up your bedroom.
9 _____ (the / fact / in / of / view / that) she has no experience, Hannah's going to help her.
10 _____ (light / in / recent / of / news), we have decided to postpone the football match.

/10

VOCABULARY

3 Complete the sentences with words for explaining meaning.

1 We can s _ _ u _ the events of the day in one word – 'incredible'.
2 The school bell ringing at 3 p.m. would s _ _ _ _ _ y the end of the school day.
3 I'd like to i _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ e what I mean by telling you a story.
4 Before we can discuss this concept, we need to d _ _ _ _ e exactly what we mean.
5 A good poem should be able to c _ _ _ _ _ e the imagination of the reader.

/5

4 Choose the correct words to complete the sentences.

1 The new smartphone exploded / transformed onto the market back in 2009.
2 Sales of the water filter have reverted / remained steady for the last two years.
3 We have seen a catalyst / consistent demand for our yoghurts in recent months.
4 There was a sharp decline / surge in sales from which the company never recovered.
5 He has been following the evolution / transform of the compact car over the last fifty years.

/5

5 Complete the sentences with the words and phrases in the box. There are two words or phrases you do not need.

cholesterol diet in season nutrients out of season vegan vegetarian

1 Apples must be _____ because they're really cheap at the moment.
2 The doctor has said my dad needs to lower his _____ so he's avoiding fatty foods.
3 You need to eat a range of foods to get all the _____ your body needs.
4 My cousin's a _____ so he avoids all animal-related products.
5 He's cut all carbohydrates from his _____ so he won't eat potatoes, pasta, rice or bread.

/5

© 2023 Pearson PHOTOCOPIABLE

6 Match the sentence beginnings (1–5) with the sentence endings (a–e).

1 Seeing that advertisement takes me ___
2 We've spent the afternoon reminiscing ___
3 This reminds me ___
4 I hope this doesn't bring ___
5 It's no use trying to recreate ___

a of a dish my mother used to make.
b back to my childhood.
c feelings from your childhood.
d about our university days.
e back bad memories for you.

/5

HOW TO …

7 Complete the sentences with the words and phrases in the box.

a fortune	classy	costly	dead	hours	loud
second-hand	starving	ten sizes	waterproof

A: What do you think about these shoes for your interview next week?
A: No way. I wouldn't be seen [1]_____ in them!
B: I suppose they're a bit [2]_____ with all those bright colours. Well, what about these then? They're more [3]_____ so they'll help create a good impression.
B: I don't know. Do you think they're [4]_____? They look like they'd get ruined in the rain.
A: I think they'll be alright. I wouldn't worry about that.
B: They look about [5]_____ too small though.
A: I'm sure they've got them in your size!
B: I don't know. I mean, I bet they cost [6]_____. I don't want to spend loads of money.
A: I suppose they do look a bit [7]_____. How about trying the [8]_____ shop? You can probably get a bargain there.
B: It takes [9]_____ to get there. How about getting something to eat instead?
A: I don't think it would take that long, but I agree about getting some food. I'm [10]_____!

/10

Total: /50

© 2023 Pearson PHOTOCOPIABLE

Part B • Listening, Reading and Writing

LISTENING

1 [Audio UT7.01] Listen to a speaker, Greg Reed, giving a talk about cyclical fashion. Number the topics (A–E) in the order they are mentioned.

A Social and economic factors affecting fashion. ___
B Ideas of what is smart have shifted. ___
C Fashion cycles appear to be shrinking. ___
D Age makes us more aware of fashion cycles. ___
E Fashions don't stay with us forever. ___

/5

2 [Audio UT7.01] Listen again. Complete the sentences with a word, short phrase or number.

1 When Greg was a young man, his choice of clothing was influenced by those of the _____.
2 Cyclical trends are seen in artistic areas such as _____ as well as in fashion.
3 The first recognition of cyclical fashion trends was made by a(n) _____ in 1937.
4 James Laver noted that fashion trends seemed to observe a regular _____.
5 People sometimes get _____ from the clothing they wore when they were younger.
6 Greg gives the example of _____ to show that not all fashion accessories from the past will be used in contemporary design.
7 In the final years of _____ there were faster and more cost-effective ways of making clothes.
8 In order to satisfy the demands of consumers, designers are more likely to use _____ in their clothing.
9 As a result of changing dress codes, politicians may wear sports shoes instead of _____.
10 Greg notes that modern-day clothes are likely to be less _____ than those of the 1950s.

/10

READING

3 Read four extracts in which people talk about sustainable lifestyles. Are the statements True (T) or False (F)?

1 Jean Paul believes everyone will understand why governments need to provide financial assistance to corporations. T / F
2 Katarina suggests that the increasing number of people is having a negative effect on the environment. T / F
3 Katarina thinks corporations are deliberately confusing the public with information about their products. T / F
4 Gareth believes that sustainability is just as important to most people as convenience. T / F
5 Gareth is unsurprised by the fact that the number of cars in use has been rising. T / F
6 Leticia thinks the media and charities have been effective in highlighting the need for more sustainable lifestyles. T / F
7 Leticia points out that fast-food sales have exploded in recent years. T / F

/7

A Jean Paul
It seems to me that sustainability isn't being taken seriously enough. There are many ways in which the world needs to change, but one area most people have some control over is their consumption. Despite this, consumption of unsustainable products like meat and fossil fuels is on the increase. As I see it, people need a clear incentive to choose otherwise. Unless sustainable products become cheaper, buying mass-produced meat instead of organic vegetables, or petrol cars instead of electric ones is the only option for them. I can understand why corporations feel the need to charge more for those goods and it's not realistic to expect them to lower their prices. For that reason, governments should step in and provide financial assistance to companies with sustainable products. This could take the form of subsidies or lower taxes. Some people might wonder why the taxpayer should fund this, but it seems to me that it's in everyone's interest for governments to promote greener economies.

B Katarina
There's no doubt that we should be aiming for a more sustainable future. Due to a rising population and the stress we're putting on the environment, we need to change our ways. Most of the people I know do want to do their bit to protect the environment, but they don't know where to start. Even when they check the packaging on supermarket products, they can't tell whether it's sustainable or not. Just the other day, I was looking for environmentally friendly toilet paper and it wasn't clear whether it was recycled or not. Part of the problem is that some companies are engaged in greenwashing, or intentionally misleading customers to think that their products are environmentally friendly. For instance, one supermarket stocks a brand called 'Green Woods' which, despite its name, is not recycled and therefore does nothing to protect the environment. Fortunately, because of public pressure, companies are becoming more transparent, but they must do more to make their labels clearer. A good idea I've heard about is that some supermarkets use a traffic light system to indicate how sustainable products are. We need more initiatives like that.

C Gareth
There's no escaping the fact that our way of life is unsustainable, but most of us just want to improve our own lives. We're so busy rushing around and working hard, that we need the convenience of being able to grab a snack or to drive our kids to school whenever we like. At the same time, it's undeniable that some of the harm we've done to the environment can be undone by making lifestyle changes. For example, car emissions are a major contributor to air pollution and global warming, yet car use in the UK has been rising steadily. Incredibly, it increased by a whopping 12 percent between 2020 and 2021.

© 2023 Pearson PHOTOCOPIABLE

Nevertheless, it's not fair to tell people how to live their lives. We should all be free to aspire to a more luxurious lifestyle. Obviously, this doesn't solve the environmental problems we face, so governments need to convince people to take the environment into account when making household decisions. They should be honest and explain the risks of continuing an unsustainable lifestyle, before offering suggestions and alternatives to help us pursue more sustainable lifestyles.

D Leticia
More and more, people are inspired to make the shift towards more sustainable lifestyles. The media and charities have done a good job of raising awareness of the issues. Nevertheless, there's still much work to be done and too many people continue to consume in a way that's unsustainable. This isn't because they don't care about the environment, but because some sections of society aren't sufficiently aware of the issues. You only have to see the popularity of fast-food shops to know that. Despite fast-food companies having been responsible for mass deforestation, there's been a consistent increase in their sales of around two percent per year. I'd argue that governments should do more to make consumers aware of issues related to sustainability. However, the large corporations are the ones making all the money. The fast-food sector is worth $600 billion, so is it really fair that taxpayers' money is spent on educating people about environmental issues? If anything, governments should force corporations to take responsibility for cleaning up the mess they've created.

4 Read the extracts again. For questions 1–4, choose the correct speaker (A, B, C or D). The speakers may be chosen more than once.

Which speaker …

1 shares Jean Paul's view that individuals should be encouraged to adopt a sustainable lifestyle? ___
2 takes the same view as Leticia that some individuals want to make sustainable lifestyle choices? ___
3 has a different opinion from Katarina about the responsibility of companies to make it easier for people to adopt a sustainable lifestyle? ___
4 does not share Gareth's view that governments have a responsibility to educate the public about sustainability? ___

/8

WRITING

5 Read the comment on a blog post. Choose the most appropriate words to complete the comment.

Is anyone else worried about the fact young people in the UK [1]aren't / are not studying languages anymore? [2]I was informed by a / I saw some statistic in the paper saying that only 30,000 school pupils were studying German. What [3]could the problem be / on earth's going on? How can we say we're a global society if we [4]are unable to / can't speak any other languages. [5]We aren't doing the next generation any favours / There are no advantages for the next generation by not teaching languages in schools.

/5

6 Read the blog posts below. Write a comment responding to each one.

Tyler493
4 hrs ago
I can't stand vegetarians because they just want to make the rest of us feel guilty for eating meat. They're always going on about how it's bad for the environment or worrying about the poor little animals. What's really wrong with eating meat? It's what we've done for thousands of years and no one's complained about it before. TBH I'm not even sure it's healthy to be a vegetarian. Don't we need meat for a balanced diet?

Deranger6
2 days ago
I don't understand why anyone would buy second-hand clothes. What annoys me most is when people call it vintage fashion. Who are they trying to fool? They're just trying to make it sound trendier than it really is. In my opinion, second-hand clothes are usually shabby and I'd rather spend my hard-earned cash on something decent. Anyone with any pride in themselves would do the same.

Write 100–130 words for each of your comments.

/15

Total: /50

© 2023 Pearson PHOTOCOPIABLE

Part C • Speaking

SPEAKING

1 Listen to your partner talk about their pictures.
Ask: How useful are these activities for taking us back to the past?

2 Describe and compare the pictures showing people eating in different ways.
Why might the people have chosen to eat in these ways?

/15

3 Answer your partner's question.

/5

Total: /20

© 2023 Pearson PHOTOCOPIABLE