PART B

Test items	Guidance for teachers
1, 2, 3, 4	If learners give correct answers to these four test items, be aware that they may be familiar with the grammar in Lesson 1A. Focus on encouraging them to use some of the phrases for talking about present and past habits. If learners give incorrect answers to these four test items, be aware that you may need to present the grammar in Lesson 1A carefully and use the related Grammar Bank material on page 110.
5, 6, 7	If learners give correct answers to these three test items, be aware that they may be familiar with the grammar in Lesson 1B. Although they may recognise and understand reduced relative clauses, they may still need encouragement to use them actively when they write and speak. If learners give incorrect answers to these three test items, be aware that you may need to present the grammar in Lesson 1B carefully and use the related Grammar Bank material on page 111.
8, 9, 10, 11	If learners give correct answers to these four test items, be aware that they may be familiar with the grammar in Lesson 2A. Although they may recognise and understand cleft sentences, they may not be confident about using them. Encourage them to use the structures actively when they write and speak. If learners give incorrect answers to these four test items, be aware that you may need to present the grammar in Lesson 2A carefully and use the related Grammar Bank material on page 113.
12, 13, 14, 15	If learners give correct answers to these four test items, be aware that they may be familiar with the grammar in Lesson 2B. Focus on helping students develop confidence with using ellipsis and substitution in a natural way, especially when speaking. If learners give incorrect answers to these four test items, be aware that you may need to present the grammar in Lesson 2B carefully and use the related Grammar Bank material on page 114.
16, 17, 18, 19	If learners give correct answers to these four test items, be aware that they may be familiar with the grammar in Lesson 3A. Focus on encouraging them to use the structure with both present and past tenses, in a range of different contexts. If learners give incorrect answers to these four test items, be aware that you may need to present the grammar in Lesson 3A carefully and use the related Grammar Bank material on page 116.
