My favourite room

Two readers tell us about their favourite rooms.

Miquel

For me, the kitchen has always been the most important room in the house. When I was growing up, I spent a lot of time there, hanging out while my grandmother prepared meals on the big iron cooker. In between jobs, like taking out the rubbish or cutting vegetables, I learnt how to cook, and I found out all the local news from her. I still feel happiest in the kitchen, cooking my favourite dishes and listening to music, or chatting with my family. I've also got wonderful views across the fields so it's great for relaxing after a day at work.

I'm not a big fan of modern styles so my kitchen is quite old-fashioned. It still has the original cupboards which are made of wood, although I painted them white. Now the kitchen feels bright and airy in my opinion. I've also decorated it with plants and other decorations and, on one wall, I've hung up a genuine advertisement for hot chocolate from the 1930s. It belonged to my dad so it's quite special to me. I hope to get some more pictures like that because they definitely make the kitchen more interesting. I know my kitchen isn't to everyone's tastes, but it gives me a lot of pleasure!

Lucy

I'm a travel writer and I used to work in a minimalist office. It just had basic furniture and no decorations. It never felt like the right place for a travel writer to be working in. However, when I started working from home, I converted my spare bedroom into a study. It's not very big so I've had to use the space carefully, but I think it's pretty cool. It's got everything I need to do my job, but it also reflects my love of travelling and finding out about other cultures.

I've got a big desk in there, which I couldn't do without. That's where my computer is, as well as piles of paper and books. Apart from my desk, I've got shelves along one wall where I keep my books. I know I've got too many and I should tidy them up a bit. However, I've put off doing it because I don't want to throw any of them away. I've also got lots of decorations made from all sorts of things like leather and glass. My favourite is a small stone statue which I bought in Mexico. I keep it on my desk and it brings back memories of my travels. It gives me a lot of pleasure every time I look at it.

4 Read the article again. Are the statements True (T) or False (F)?

1 Miquel's kitchen used to be more important to him. T / F
2 Miquel is able to see the countryside from his kitchen. T / F
