5.2 GRAMMAR LESSONS 2–3

OVERVIEW

Duration: 40+40 minutes

Objectives:
- Can suggest pros and cons when discussing a topic, using simple language (P) (GSE 52 – B1+).

Resources:
- SB pp. 62, 144
- TB: Culture notes p. 174; Photocopiable Resource 26 pp. 206, 241
- WB p. 62
- Online resources: Extra digital activities, Grammar Checkpoint; Teacher's resources, Video 21 – Grammar Animation

LESSON 2

WARM-UP | 4–5 minutes

1 (S–T, T–S) Books closed. To see what Ss know, ask: What is a gap year? Elicit answers from different Ss. Make sure that Ss understand a gap year is a year between leaving school and starting university which is usually spent travelling or working.

TIP

See Culture notes in TB p. 174 for information about a gap year.

2 (T–S, S–T) Ask Ss to turn to p. 62 and look at Exercise 1. Give them 1 minute to read UK TODAY. Then ask: Is it a good thing to do a gap year? Elicit answers from individual Ss. Encourage them to give reasons for their answers. Have a brief class discussion.

PRESENTATION | 10–12 minutes

1 (T–S, S–T) Refer Ss to Exercise 2 and ask them to look at the photo of Ricky's parents and read the sentences. Ask Ss who they think is in favour of Ricky doing a gap year and who is against it. Elicit ideas from different Ss. Then play the recording for Ss to check their ideas.

2 (S–S, S–T, T–S) Refer Ss to Exercise 3. Give them 1 minute to complete the GRAMMAR FOCUS and then 2 extra minutes to read the examples in pairs and discuss the rules. Then go through the GRAMMAR FOCUS with the class. Check that Ss understand how we use two different tenses in the structure and that the Present Simple follows if. Give Ss more examples of the First Conditional and ask them to come up with their own sentences as well. Make sure they understand that this structure describes results of possible future actions, e.g. If I save money, I will buy a car.

TIP

There may be a lot of L1 interference in the way that this structure is formed with some languages using the future form twice, i.e. after if as well as in the result clause. Correct this thoroughly and give Ss plenty of practice with this form. In addition, when the clause order changes, Ss may understand moving if, but may not change the order of present and future tenses. This will be particularly true with Ss whose mother tongue expects the meaning to change when word order changes.

PRACTICE | 12–14 minutes

1 (S–T, T–S) Ss do Exercise 4 individually. Give them 2 minutes and then play the recording again so that they listen and check their answers. Recheck how the First Conditional sentences are formed and focus on the difference between sentences which start with the conditional clause and those which start with the result clause (beginning with If or beginning with will clause). Elicit that the result clause still uses will + infinitive and the conditional clause still uses the Present Simple. Make sure Ss understand that with the First Conditional the clause order can change.

2 (T–S, S–T) Refer Ss to Exercise 5. Ask them what other reasons Ricky might have for going to South America. Elicit answers from different Ss and have a brief class discussion. Then play the recording so that Ss listen and check their ideas.

3 (T–S, S–T) Ss do Exercise 6 individually. Give them 3 minutes to complete the activity and then play the recording again for Ss to check their answers. Elicit the rules for how the First Conditional sentences are formed.

PRODUCTION | 7–9 minutes

(S–S) Refer Ss to Exercise 7. Put them in A/B/C groups and have them do a role-play. Explain that Ss A are going to play the role of the student, Ss B are going to play the role of the positive parent and Ss C are going to play the role of the negative parent. Give them 1 minute to read the prompts about their roles and prepare. Remind them to be as realistic as possible and to use the First Conditional whenever possible in their role-plays. Tell them that they must keep talking for a full 3 minutes. As Ss interact with each other, go round the class monitoring and taking notes of any problems or errors to discuss when giving feedback. When they have finished, invite groups to act out their role-plays in front of the class. Then give some feedback based on your notes.

LESSON 3

WARM-UP | 3–5 minutes

1 (T–S) Explain to Ss that they are going to watch an animated cartoon which will give them more context for the grammar.

2 (T–S, S–T) Ask Ss a few warm-up questions like: Who is he? What is he like? Where is he? Can you describe the room? What is he thinking? Play Video 21 – Grammar Animation from the Teacher's resources and stop after the introduction (00:19). Make sure Ss understand that Nick has to make a decision between studying and spending time in clubs.

PRESENTATION | 7–8 minutes

1 (T–S, S–T) Ask Ss to watch the clip carefully and answer the following questions: What will happen if Nick studies a lot? How will he earn a lot of money? What will he buy if he has a lot of money? Where will he go on holiday? Play the video with the subtitles off.

2 (T–S, S–T) Play the whole video once again, with subtitles. Ask Ss to pay special attention to the First Conditional.

PRACTICE | 10–12 minutes

1 (T–S, S–T) Explain to Ss that the animation provides more context for the topic of the lesson. Ask them if they can remember any sentences with the First Conditional from the video and write them on the board. Do not worry if Ss do not remember all the sentences – use the script to read out the sentences with the target language and put the missing ones on the board. Then discuss why the First Conditional is used and how the sentences are formed.

2 (T–S, S–T) For Ss who still do not understand the First Conditional, use the teacher's explanation part of Video 21 – Grammar Animation from the Teacher's resources (01:45–03:34). If you feel they are doing well and can list a few examples and provide explanation, then you can omit the teacher's part.

TIP

Play the animation for a third time in weaker groups or if Ss really want to watch it. Then pause after sentences where there is the First Conditional. Ask Ss when the First Conditional is used and how the First Conditional sentences are formed. You can ask them to repeat a sentence, turning the subtitles off, especially where they had problems with a given example.

Alternatively, go to GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE 5.2 on p. 144 and ask Ss to complete Exercises 1–5 individually. Do a quick class check. This could be also given as homework.

PRODUCTION | 11–13 minutes

(S–S) Explain to Ss that they are going to create chains of conditional sentences in groups. Divide Ss in groups of four or five. Give a piece of paper to each group. One S in each group writes an If clause at the top of the piece of paper. Then they pass their pieces of paper to the next S who completes the second half of the conditional sentence any way they like. The S then folds the piece of paper so the If clause cannot be seen and passes it to the next S. He/She then uses the second half of the sentence to write the beginning half of a new conditional sentence. The S then folds the piece of paper to hide the last sentence and passes it to the next S. This process continues until each S writes two sentences. As Ss do this, monitor and identify problems to discuss when giving feedback. When they have finished, invite one S from each group to read their set of sentences aloud to the class. Then hold a class vote for the best set of sentences.

HOMEWORK

1 Give Ss WB p. 62 as homework.

2 Ask Ss to prepare for a 10–20-minute Grammar Quiz: Assessment Package, Unit 5.2, Grammar.

3 Ask Ss to write two tips for studying for exams.

CONTINGENCY PLAN

Refer to TB p. 62 for extra activities.
