B1 LESSON 1

Young People Can Make a Difference

Introduction

Ss read a short interview with a young girl who is actively involved in the movement Fridays for Future. At the same time, they see ways and tools that young people of their age and generation can use or are using to make their voices heard.

STEP 1 RAISING AWARENESS

The purpose of this initial step is to make Ss reflect on how problems they care about are often issues others may be passionate about as well.

1 A Give Ss a time limit to write down their ideas. Let them know they will be sharing them with other Ss.

B After completing Ex 1A, put Ss into pairs and allow time for them to read and discuss the questions. Monitor and help with vocabulary if asked to. Briefly check answers as a class.

C Put Ss into pairs or small groups to discuss the questions and then invite individual Ss to share their pairs'/groups' ideas with the class.

STEP 2 GOING AHEAD

2 A Point to the photo and ask: Who can you see? What is happening? Then ask Ss to make a note of what they know about Fridays for Future.

B Put Ss into pairs to compare their answers.

C Tell Ss they are going to read an extract from an interview with Susie, a young activist of Fridays for Future. Allow them time to read the text and match the information with their lists of ideas. When they have finished, ask: Which answer has surprised you the most?

D Focus Ss on Question 1. Elicit whether the right option is a, b or c and ask them to find the place in the text where it says so. Explain they are going to answer the other questions individually. Allow time for them to work individually and then compare answers with a partner. Get feedback as a class, making sure they can justify their answers.

ANSWERS:

1 b 'I joined Fridays for Future last month'
2 a 'we must all be part of the solution. We need to take urgent action'
3 c 'start changing the way we live our lives'
4 c 'She talks about the importance of education for everyone, and I agree. Education is an essential part of any movement.'

3 This activity allows Ss to read and reflect on some of the statements made by Susie. Allow them time to read all the sentences and work individually first and then with a partner. As a follow-up activity, Ss may be asked to write down reasons why they agree or disagree with the statements made by Susie.

Language for citizenship

4 Ss are given a chance to use some of the words which were in the interview and which may be needed for the final activity. Encourage them to refer back to the interview to check how each word was used. As a follow-up activity, Sentence 4 could be used as a question to encourage a short class discussion.

ANSWERS:

1 scientists
2 activist, organisation, movement
3 campaign
4 involved

CRITICAL THINKING

The Italian Constitution

5 Article 3 of the Italian Constitution highlights the importance of an active participation in the life of the country, while making it clear that freedom and equality are the key conditions for anyone to be able to participate. The list of options could be used as a springboard for a short discussion in L1.

ANSWER:

freedom and equality

STEP 3 TAKING ACTION

Digital literacies

6 The two final activities give Ss a chance to explore youth-led movements and to investigate what organisations or activists can do/are doing to fight climate change. In class, encourage Ss to share the information and knowledge they have of local initiatives or associations. Both activities imply a use of technology and can be assigned as homework.
